In Memoriam

We are saddened to report that Reginald Hill, author of the much loved mystery series featuring Dalziel and Pascoe, as well as numerous excellent espionage novels died at the age of 75. In 1990, the British Crime Writer's Association awarded him the Golden Dagger for Bones and Silence. Then in 1995 he received the prestigious Diamond Dagger for his entire body of work.

On another sad note, Edgar, Agatha, and Anthony awards finalist Margaret Lawrence (aka Lorrain "Margaret" Keilstrup, aka M.K. Lorens) died on January 15 at her home in Fremont, Nebraska. She was 66.
